The Wonder of Lustralite®

Thanks to a new process pioneered by MeadWestvaco, laminate is getting its reality redefined — real materials like metals, minerals and cloth and plant fibers embedded into the decorative materials which ultimately become the fashion of laminate. It's called Lustralite®. Anything that can be put onto paper can become the next hot look in flooring. We've seen aluminum, banana fiber and coffee husks, mica — even iridescent granules that seem to make a floor change color as you walk around it.

DESIGNER'S NOTEBOOK

SAVE THE DATE, CHICAGO

About 1,000 flooring retailers, leading manufacturers and top designers have been invited to join the Chicago Floorcovering Association and FABULOUS FLOORS in a special October 26 event to explore "The Magic of Color."

We're co-hosting this night of Fabulous Floors with the largest regional floor covering association in America, and our intention is three-fold, to...

- talk about today's color trends and see what's in store for flooring in 2006
- learn from experts about the importance of color in flooring and interior design
- discover how to use the magical power of color in making our flooring selections

We love talking to consumers, as you've seen from our Publisher's Scrapbook, and we're delighted to be part of this industry event. We'll be sharing our knowledge and ideas with others in the know, including our ASID Industry Partners, so we'll certainly be able to find out where color, interior design and flooring fashion are headed. Of course, we'll be reporting back on our findings in the next issue!

Catch FABULOUS FLOORS On National TV Starting This Fall...!

Tune into "No Place Like Home," and catch a 30-second TV spot featuring FABULOUS FLOORS. Starting in September, we'll be a regular sponsor. The TV series is beamed to all major markets — 80 to 100 million households. How Fabulous is that!
